

Canadian
Creators Collective

Mission Statement

We strive to promote the emergence and development of Canadian creatives, at both the national and international level, by supporting their endeavours and creating opportunities for growth.

Founded in 2018, the Canadian Creatives Collective – the CCC – was born out of desire from a group of creators to see Canadian design soar to new heights and discover new markets.

The organization aims to stimulate connections and foster meaningful collaborations between design professionals. To achieve this, it offers logistical support to creators while they establish representation and expand marketing opportunities abroad.

The CCC also creates opportunities that foster the emergence of new talent by connecting with prominent professionals from around the world. It especially encourages bold and innovative projects which will highlight Canadian savoir faire.

Board of Directors

Samuel Lambert, administrator

Quinlan Osborne, administrator

Zébulon Perron, administrator

Laurence Gélinas, executive director

ccc